The RICS and Macdonald & Company
UK REWARDS & ATTITUDES
SURVEY 2011
Executive Summary & Key Findings
2011 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Introduction

Now in its twelfth year, the annual RICS and Macdonald & Company Rewards & Attitudes Survey is the most comprehensive survey undertaken for the property sector.

The survey continues the success of earlier surveys, with 8,351 UK surveying professionals participated online in December 2010 and January 2011, making this the largest and most comprehensive survey of its type in the industry. Thanks this year as always must go to Property Week and RICS who actively promoted involvement in the survey amongst their readership/members. We would also like to thank all the participants who took time to complete the questionnaire.

Besides statistics on current salaries, recent salary increases, bonuses and employment package benefits, the results give insight into wider issues that are important to professionals in their role and their attitudes toward employment. This report sets out the key findings of the survey.

Further analysis and information are available from Macdonald & Company.

Foreword

From the depths of 2009/2010 it is widely accepted that certain sectors of the world property market first showed signs of recovery back in October 2010. The recovery in the sector has continued, however there is certainly some way to go.

There are signs of improvement in the world economy, but long term confidence and availability of capital continue to severely affect the real estate market in all areas and sectors.

UK professionals remain cautious regarding the prospects for the year ahead with only 24% predicting an increase in economic activity in the sector this year, versus 54% in Europe, 56% in Asia, 44% in the Middle East and 56% in Africa. 28% of all respondents to the survey believe that activity will decrease in 2011, up from 16% last year but in direct contrast to 55% in 2009. The results of the survey are clear; the property market is slowly showing signs of improvement. Of the 37% of respondents that received an increase the average rise was 6.2%.

It appears employers have already taken steps to increase the remuneration of the more junior grades and certain professionals. However with the effects of inflation and the increased tax burden, added with the effect of little or no salary increases over the past few years, salary is now by far the biggest reason an employee would leave their current employer, chosen discipline, versus 50% last year. The increased seniority of the sample should be noted and is the principal reason for the evidence of increase in provision of benefits such as mobile phone, professional fees and pensions.

40% (versus 34%) of respondents think they are very or fairly likely to change employer in the next 12 months while a growing number believe it will get worse (28% versus 16%).

RESEARCH SAMPLE PROFILE

Response Rate Total

In its twelfth year, with 8,351 respondents, the survey remains the most robust and respected survey of its kind.

An online statistics package for the 2011 survey is available at a cost of £599 + VAT.

Years’ Experience

How many years’ experience do you have in your discipline?

55% of the respondents have 16 years’ experience or more in their chosen discipline, versus 50% last year. The increased seniority of the sample should be noted and is the principal reason for the increase in average salary this year.
Level of Responsibility
What is the level of responsibility within the organisation for which you work?

58% of the respondents are either an Associate/Manager or at a Director/Partner level within the organisation, in comparison to 52% last year.

Average UK Property Salary
What is your current annual Base Salary?
The average salary of a UK property professional has increased from £47,587 to £50,250.

Change in Salary
What change (if any) was made to your annual salary at your last pay review?
Overall 54% of respondents received no change in base salary. Of the 37% that received an increase in base salary last year the average increase was 6.2%. 9% of respondents suffered a pay reduction; the average reduction was 17.6%. Considering the survey sample as a whole, the industry overall experienced an increase of +1.6%. Last year the industry suffered a decrease of -2.5%.

Change to Salary at Last Review
What change (if any) was made to your annual salary at your last pay review?
Only 37% of respondents received a base salary increase up from 32% last year, 9% of respondents had a base salary reduction down from 15% the previous year, while 54% (+1%) of respondents had no change made to their base salary.

Average UK Property Salary Increase
What (if any) was the % increase of your salary?
Of those who did receive an increase in base salary last year (37%), the average increase across all sectors of employment, location and level was 6.2% (versus 5.2% last year).

(*= average increase of those respondents who reported a salary increase offset against those who reported a salary decrease as a %) (Please note: 1,659 respondents did respond to question & not included with % figures)
